The Baltimore Convention.

The telegraph brings us some further details of the protracted meeting of the "harmonious" Democracy at Baltimore. Yesterday, the "platform" gave way under the heavy pressure of discordant material heaped upon it, but nobody was hurt, though many were badly frightened. There is no immediate prospect of the Convention getting through with their work much before the Fourth of July; and the probabilities of a rupture are as great as ever. It is idle, however, to speculate upon the doings at Baltimore until some practical is reached.

Private Pay.—We acknowledge, per favor of the American Express Company, the receipt of a "money package," enclosing the amount of the stake won from "a Democrat from the Country," who was rash enough to bet [...] that a nomination would be made at Baltimore by Tuesday night. We promised not to mention his name, nor his place of [...] "Verbum Sat."

The Japanese Assassination.

Under date of April 15, Mr. R. H. Dana, Jr., writes from Kanagawa, Japan:

"Mr Dorr (U. S. Consul) tells me that the report of the assassination of the Prince of Mito is true. The Emperor is a boy of 16. The Prince of Mito is a great feudal chief, who is bitterly opposed to foreigners, to the treaty now made, and to the party in power, which is supposed to favor foreigners. Immediately on the assassination, the Prince of Mito withdrew to his country in the mountains, and has been levying a large force — [...] was apprehended. The Japanese authorities have told Mr. Dorr they cannot protect him in Kanagawa, if the Prince of Mito [...] this way, and advise him to retire to Yeddo, but he refuses, believing it to be a dodge to remove the Consulate."

The intelligence confirms the rumor of a serious outbreak in Japan, though later advices than Mr. Dana's contradict the reported assassination of the Prince Regent. The Japanese Embassy, who are now enjoying to the full the princely hospitalities of New York do not seem to be under any concern of mind about the news. These philosophers comfort themselves with the reflection that, if the worst comes to the worst, they can relieve themselves from any apprehended trouble by the "happy despatch."

Another Contested Seat Decided.—On Monday last, the House of Representatives, by the very decisive majority of yeas 121 to nays 60, confirmed Mr. Anderson, (Union) of Kentucky, in his seat. Mr. Creighton, the contestant, is a Democrat, who claimed to have been elected by three majority. The House Committee sifted the returns, and found Mr. Anderson's legal majority to be 139. The District gave Buchanan 863 majority.

The London Spectator, one of the leading weeklies of England, is generally regarded as better informed on American affairs than some of its contemporaries. Yet it shows very hasty reading, to say the least, in its reports of the nominations of the various political parties for the Presidency. It says that the old Whigs have nominated Mr. Bell—that a convention in Illinois has nominated Mr. Hamlin for President, and Mr. Maine for Vice President—and that the whole field will be greatly modified before the election comes on in June.

The Japanese Embassy at New York.—A very severe time the "Japs" have had at the Metropolis, if we may judge by the New York papers. They were received with speeches which were appropriately responded to through an interpreter; they were carried in triumphant procession up Broadway, escorted by over seven thousand citizen soldiers, they were voted the freedom of the city, feasted and serenaded. These distinguished guests—whom we came near calling colored men, which would have been a great breach of propriety, though they are said to resemble in color nothing so much as the covers of the Atlantic Monthly — these guests, we hope, will carry home with them a proper appreciation of American greatness as set forth in the unexampled display at New York.

Immense Steamers for France.—The London correspondent of the New York Herald says that the Emperor Napoleon under the guise of a company with a government guarantee, has entered into arrangements to have ten new iron paddle steamers built in Great Britain, ostensibly for commercial service between France and the East. These steamers are to be of ten thousand tons each, or just about half the size of the Great Eastern, being more than double the size of the Persia, the Adriatic, or the Vanderbilt. Several of them are to be built by Scott Russell, the builder of the Great Eastern.

The Cattle Disease in Canada.—We regret to learn that a disease supposed to be pleuro pneumonia has broken out in the county of Huntington, Canada East, and that several cattle have already died with it.

Huntington is one of the townships upon the border of New York and is celebrated for its dairy produce. The spread of the disease through that and the other townships, would be a calamity disastrous to the farmers and seriously detrimental to the whole country.

Republicans in Virginia.—The Republicans of the city of Wheeling are delighted with the nominations of Lincoln and Hamlin. They say they will carry the city by 600 majority. The mechanics are fairly aroused to join the great movement in favor of free labor. The artisans are mostly young men of intelligence, and we are confident that Wheeling will soon stand side by side with St. Louis as an unflinching Republican city.

The New York Directory for the present year is the largest ever published and contains 156,303 names. An increase of 2,978 over last year's.

In 1848, Mayor Wood of N. Y. purchased for $7,000, three acres of land on which his present residence is located, and for which he has been offered, within the past week, $180,000, and which has been refused.—The same lucky, or fortunate gentleman purchased many years ago, lots now fronting on the Central Park, for which he has paid only hundreds, and for which he is now offered $10,000 each.

Lumber from Oconto.—The Oconto Pioneer of the 18th instant, gives the names of fourteen vessels, calling at that port for lumber during the preceding week. The Pioneer says:

When a person takes into consideration that no less than four hundred thousand feet of lumber passes down this river on its way to these vessels, a stranger can form some idea of the business-like aspect which this stream presents. There certainly can be no better quality manufactured than that which is shipped from here, and we believe it has that reputation abroad.

Fire at Palmyra.—We learn from the "Jeffersonian," that on Friday night, the 8th inst., a fire was discovered in the store of Mr. Justus Carpenter, of Palmyra, in this county, which destroyed and damaged goods to a considerable amount. The store was closed early in the evening, and the fire was no doubt the work of an incendiary, as cotton batting was found lying on the floor of the store, saturated with burning fluid, which tells the story. It will be remembered that some time ago Mr. Carpenter's barn was burnt down in the same manner, containing grain, horses, &c., amounting to the value of $3,000. It is to be regretted that the rascal or rascals cannot be found out, and brought to justice, and receive that punishment which such crimes deserve.—Watertown Dem.

The Sailors for Lincoln.—The Manitowoc Tribune says:

The schooner Two Charlies, Captain R. L. Bell, came into port yesterday with a fine Lincoln and Hamlin flag flying at the masthead. She carries a jolly Captain and a merry crew, who will do good work in the canvass, and be on hand to do seaman's duty at the polls. "Eight Bells."

The Presentation of the Belts.

The full particulars of the presentation of the belts to the two champions have been read. Let us notice a few of the expressions employed on the occasion of the presentation—to the tune of the benediction of the poinards in the Huguenots. The chairman, Mr. Caldwell (respecting whom we, not knowing him, must argue ourselves unknown) introduced the champions to the spectators as "the two bravest men who had honored the world since the days of Wellington and Napoleon." This fact was at once endorsed by acclamation. The heroes then advanced and shook hands in token of final reconciliation. England forgave America for knocking her down sixteen times, and America overlooked the black eye she received in return.

Two belts lay upon the table in the middle of the Alhambra; they were the real (not the counterfeit) presentment of each other. One was destined for Hercules, the other for Antæus. Heenan, as Hercules, stepped forward first, amid thunders of applause, and stood as that ancient hero might have stood while listening to his taskmaster's commendation of his labors, and listened to an oration from the eloquent Frank J. Dowling, editor of Bell's Life in London, representative of the sporting press of Great Britain, and referee and umpire in the recent contest, which he did not decide in favor of the winner.

Mr. Dowling surpassed himself in this great effort. He informed Heenan that the belt had been purchased by a subscription among the noblemen and gentlemen of England, headed by the sum of £25 ($125) from Sayers; that it was not the belt for which he had fought, but another. As for the real belt of England, that was still open for competition, and he might fight for it again, but not with Sayers, for that gentleman was about to retire from the active practice of his profession, content to rest upon his laurels. He (the speaker) requested him (the champion) to accept the proffered belt as a well earned, well deserved memento of the admiration of the people of England, with a conviction that so long as pugilism continued one of the sports of the country, (and long might that period be!) so long would the name of John C. Heenan be remembered with respect, as that of one of the bravest men that ever entered a four-and-twenty feet roped ring.

The orator feelingly concluded by asserting that the auspicious ceremony of the evening would cement forever the band of friendship between the rival champions, and tend strongly to increase the international good feeling already subsisting between America and England, which must ever be the anxious desire of every true lover of his country. Amid enthusiastic cheers Heenan buckled on the belt, and modestly retired to make way for his rival.

The duty of pronouncing the funeral oration on Sayers, as Antæus, devolved upon George Wilkes, Esq., editor of the New York Spirit of the Times. There is something very affecting in this fraternization—England crowning America, and America crowning England. Mr. Wilkes spoke with much solemnity and with deep feeling, and prefaced his address with these words:

"America to Thomas Sayers, champion of England,"—for which America is grateful to him. He informed Sayers that he had "troops upon troops" of friends in this country, that his fame was as well known here as in England; and that should he ever visit us he will have a great time of it. Mr. Wilkes bore testimony to the high and noble character of the prize ring, and to the chivalric bearing of the champions; and announced a piece of news which opened the eyes of the credulous and shut those of the incredulous. He stated, in behalf of John C. Heenan, that had the latter won the real belt, it was his fixed intention to have handed it back to Sayers, after having borrowed it for a few weeks to show it to his friends in America, and especially to flash it in Morrissey's eyes.

Mr. Wilkes took that opportunity of dilating upon the advantages of such qualities as courage, fortitude, integrity and manly bearing, all of which, he said, Sayers possessed in an unusual degree, and concluded a brilliant peroration by assuring him that the shining girdle thus presented would be a compliment to him and his, of which even the loftiest person might be proud.

We are told that Sayers was completely overcome by this specimen of New York oratory. Well he might be! Men who have served their country in other, and to our notion, better ways, have passed away with less than half the encomiums reaped by the fortunate champion of England. But his spirits revived when "the bag of money," which the impartial referee would not admit had been lost, was returned to him. The champions then walked arm in arm around the arena, to afford the spectators an opportunity of viewing them, and then severally returned thanks for the honor done them.—The performance closed "to the tune of soft music."

The champions will set forth on their travels, and in time it may be our good fortune to see them here. En attendant, we shall ponder deeply the fact that two men have realized a fortune by fighting each other for the space of two hours, amid the acclamations of two of the most civilized nations upon earth.

Patti in Chicago.—Our American Prima Donna has had immense success in Chicago. Both of her concerts were crowded, and she appears to night and to-morrow night in Opera. The Chicago Journal thus speaks of Patti:

"The appearance of little Patti was the signal for an immense sensation and the levelling of opera-glasses, which did not seem to disconcert her overmuch. In fact, la petite seem to enjoy it. We saw Patti years ago, then a wee thing singing in concert rooms and playing with her dolls; now, grown up, old enough for a "diamond wedding," charming as a fairy, with a voice as musical as any lark and the leading lyric of the stage. At first we thought of that other little pet, Piccolomini. She has the same naive, winning ways, but doesn't depend upon them solely, as Pic did, for effect. Beyond all this, she displays an earnest attention to her music and the business before her. Her voice is one of miraculous sweetness, and even in her highest register—and she reached Eb—as clear as a bird, or the mellow cadences of a flute. Certainly, never since the Lind sensation have we heard such a voice. When age matures and develops it, under proper cultivation, she may lead the world captive. Her executive powers are of the first class and marked with ease and precision. She certainly achieved a triumph, the most brilliant ever obtained before a Chicago audience, and retired after each effort amid boquets and grateful applause."

Mr. Strakosch telegraphed, yesterday, that the troupe would certainly be here Monday, and would, if desired, give two concerts in this city. Our readers will do well, therefore, to secure their seats at Hempsted's for Monday evening, without delay.

Back Pay of the Police.—At a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen held on Wednesday evening, an opinion was handed in from the City Attorney, in reference to the back pay of the policemen; it set forth at some length the action heretofore had upon the subject, rehearsing the of "Dodge vs. the city," which was tried as a test question, and which was decided against the city. He also stated that fourteen suits had been commenced against the city by the policemen whom Mayor Prentiss supposed he had legally discharged, for back pay, in the aggregate amounting to nearly $3,000. The City Attorney is of the opinion that the city will ultimately be compelled to pay the claim and recommends that it be paid before a bill of from four to five hundred dollars expenses is made by further litigation. Alderman Prentiss is equally confident that they are not entitled to the pay, and that they were regularly discharged by him when he went into office as Mayor.

The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

Battles of America by Sea and Land, is the title of a splendidly illustrated and useful work, by Virtue & Co. of New York, now for the first time introduced to our citizens by Mr. J. Walter Stoops, who designs calling upon our business and leading men of taste and submit to their inspection and patronage this beautiful and superior edition of the Battles of our Country; as a work of art alone it is worth the subscription price, and as a work of reference, a book of beauty for the parlor table, or a history for the rising generation, there is no equal to it now before the people. The excellent paper and clear typographical execution fully and harmoniously corresponds with the excellence of the numerous engravings and portraits, executed in the highest style of the steel engraver's art. Mr. Stoops, the agent now in our city, can be found at the Newhall House, and those who are not fortunate enough to see him and the specimen numbers when he calls at your place of business, can do so by calling at the Newhall, and we guarantee you will meet that social and polite attention from Mr. Stoops as will secure you a subscriber to the most magnificent Illustrated Historical work ever issued from the American press.

Optical Instruments.—We paid a visit, yesterday, to the rooms of Mr. H. W. Anger, Practical Optician, at No. 34 Wisconsin street, (up stairs) opposite Morton & Fowler's Drug Store, in Young's Block. Mr. Anger is the sole agent for the Rathenow Optical Industrial Institute, at Rathenow, some twelve miles from Berlin, Prussia. This celebrated establishment gives employment to six or seven hundred of the most skillful mechanics in Germany, and the spy-glasses, opera-glasses, spectacles, astronomical and optical instruments, there manufactured, are famous all over Europe and in our own country.

Mr. Anger's stock of spectacles and eye-glasses are very complete and of superior quality; and all whose vision stands in need of artificial aids can find something to suit them here. The delicacy of some of the frames and the purity and excellence of the glasses cannot be surpassed anywhere. Mr. Anger himself is a clever and experienced Optician, and takes pleasure in exhibiting his wares to all who may favor him with a call.

Now that our "Fathers" have, in Council assembled, at last arrived at the animal question, we don't wish to insinuate that they have gone to the dogs—those of them who live in the Third Ward will be more likely to have the dogs come to them; but we do mean to say, now that they have settled the canines, they ought to do something for the cows. The voice of humanity (and Caleb Wall) has cried out long enough. The very stones in the pavements, if they had as much voice as provocation, would cry out in this emergency.

Man Drowned.—Yesterday afternoon, as one of the hands of the propeller Racine was attaching a rope to the pier near Chestnut street bridge, he lost his balance and fell into the water. Although immediate efforts were made, his body was not recovered until life was extinct. From the lettering on the valise in his possession, it was thought his name was J. Warren Taylor, of Detroit, Michigan.

[Original.]
SUMMER RAIN.
BY ADA H. THOMAS.

Yes, dash in fury against the pane,
Dash and howl in your wild despair!
You beat like my life, oh summer rain,
On the dark, dark pane of the days that were.
Dash and howl, and wrestle in vain,
Let the cold drops fall thickly and fast,
My heart cries out, with your wailing blast,
O maddened summer rain!

Down on the river, fast rushing along,
Rushing along with its shuddering sigh,
Down on the city, whose wailing, and song
Hush into quiet your low, low cry—
You fall, and mingle in river and lane!
Thus have my hopes all drifted away,
Lost in the street, or the mad river's spray,
O sad-hearted summer rain!

No softly whispering, lovely and sweet,
Filtering wealth on the thirsting earth—
Cleansing the dust-laden, busy street—
Filling with plenty, what has been dearth,—
Cleanse thus my heart of its gnawing pain,
Raise up my soul from its lowly bed,
Lift up, as Jesus lifted the dead,
O soft-whispering summer rain!

Lo, the black storm clouds are flitting away,
Parting, and moving, like ships on the sea,
Down through the raindrops, a golden ray
Shines like a word from the coming To Be—
Blessing all round, with its golden stain!
And outward, and upward my heart I send,—
To sorrows, and storms, come a sun lighted end
O peace-bringing summer rain!

The Room of the Young Men's Republican Club will be opened this evening by appropriate ceremonies. The room is in Albany building, immediately opposite the Newhall, and will, when fitted up, form the head-quarters of the Lincoln & Hamlin men of Milwaukee.

The meeting this evening will be an entertaining one, and Republicans will bear it in mind.

Theatrical.—The manner in which the "American Cousin" was played last evening, should convince all of the excellence of Mr. Sherlock's company. Miss Plunkett as Florence Trenchard and Mr. Lee as Lord Dundreary, were perfect. Although this piece has been played here several times and is of too light a character to live long, it was well received last night. The laughable burletta of "Heenan vs. Sayers" finished up a capital bill.

Mr. Sherlock intends to give us a fresh piece every night.

Fresh Vegetables.—Mr. Arthur Aldrich has opened a stand for the sale of fresh vegetables, in the building heretofore used as a paint shop, north side of Mason street, three doors east of Milwaukee street. Mr. Aldrich raises his vegetables within a mile or two of Walker's Point bridge and gathering them fresh, early each morning, has always a large and choice supply for his customers. Try him and see.

The celebration of the Fourth of July need no longer be doubted. Active preparations are being made to honor the day as it should be. The citizens who have any patriotism are contributing their share towards defraying the expenses, and the Committee of Arrangement are confident, with the little aid that is required, to be able, on the Fourth, to make a demonstration such as we have not seen for years.

Ice Cream and Confectionery.—Murison, at his new and neat Saloon in Young's Block, Wisconsin street, keeps on hand the best of Ice Creams, fresh fruit, cake and confectionery. The public have found their way to his establishment and appreciate his wares.

The "New City Hall" begins to take upon itself the shape and appearance of respectability. We havn't the slightest doubt, if the Common Council would appropriate about $5,000 more, that it would take rank with some of the better class of buildings anywhere.

The Common Council on Wednesday evening fixed the salaries of the bridge tenders at $35 a month. The Cherry street bridge alone excepted, who will receive $20.

The ordinance fining dogs $1 and bitches $3 after the 1st of April in each year was also passed.

Municipal Court—June 21.—James Brown, vagrancy. Fined $10 and costs.—Allowed 24 hours to leave the city.

Martin Smith, assault and battery. Fined $3 and costs. Allowed till Saturday to pay.

Paul Shungles, assault and battery. Continued to the 26th inst.

Patrick Conway, bathing in the city limits. Fined $1 and costs. Execution issued.

James Smith, drunk. Fined $2 and costs. Paid.

L. L. Crounse, obtaining money under false pretense. Ordered to recognize in the sum of $300 for his appearance at the July term of Court.

The American House.—The editor of the Northern Iowa Times, who was recently on a visit to our city, says the following clever thing about this popular hotel. Everybody who has had occasion to test the hospitality of its gentlemanly landlords, will heartily endorse what Col. Richardson says of them:

"We stopped at the American, as usual, and found the Kane gentlemen as affable, and domestics as attentive to guests as ever. The House has been raised six feet and presents now a much improved appearance. Kane, (the elder) took us over the building and informed us of contemplating improvements, which, when completed, will put the American in the class of No. 1 hotels in the west. Its basement will be devoted to billiards and hair-dressing saloons, well lighted and of handsome finish. Somehow we have grown partial to the American. We know the proprietors well, and they always look as though their guests were friends. Their bills are light, their table well victualled, the servants quiet, respectful and prompt in filling orders, and the whole social machinery of the establishment impresses one with the idea of home."

Street Sprinklers are sadly needed.—Spring street wraps itself in a cloud of dust about 9 o'clock in the morning, and so remains until the evening dews arrive. Milwaukee street takes the veil still earlier and all day long street navigation is rendered a nuisance by the cloud of lime stone. There are no hopes of a remedy but we must speak of it.

The Festival given at the Plymouth Church, on Wednesday evening, was a success in every sense. The concert elicited the warmest praise and the strawberries and cream did likewise. It was—taken altogether—a very fine affair.

The house of Mr. Diedrichs on Prospect street, which was burned last December, is now rebuilt and makes as fine an appearance as ever. It is a unique and handsome structure.

J. G. Goodrich, 213 East Water street, has a very large assortment of fire works on hand. It can't be said that our boys don't care a snap for the Fourth; and as fire crackers are a necessary article, we advise them to go to Mr. Goodrich and get good ones. His pyrotechnical stock is worthy of attention.

Laman C. Weed, a colored man, broke his leg yesterday on Spring street, by falling from a scaffold.

Mr. Goodrich, on East Water Street, has a supply of this year's apples.

Lincoln Glee Club.—All those individuals who are in favor of organizing a campaign Glee Club, will be on hand to-night at the Republican head-quarters after the meeting adjourns.

Circulate Truth among the People!!
THE WEEKLY SENTINEL
Six Months for Less than Cost of Paper and Printing!!!
READ AND BE CONVINCED!
The present campaign is to be a memorable one. The battle will be fought zealously between the friends and the enemies of Freedom, and the ground contested inch by inch. In view of these facts, it is apparent that the dissemination of Republican papers and documents becomes of vast and vital importance. In order to furnish the Weekly Sentinel to the people of the North-West, during the Campaign of 1860, we have concluded to offer the paper, from the 1st of June to the 1st of December, at the following unprecedented liberal terms:

One Copy for	$0 50
Twenty Copies, (to one address)	$9 00
Fifty " " "	$20 00
One Hundred do " "	$35 00

These terms will barely cover the cost of paper before it is printed; but we have determined to put the price so low that every individual Republican, or organized Club, in this or adjoining States, will use their best endeavors to scatter the Sentinel broadcast in their particular localities, and thus accomplish more than by the circulation of ten times as many documents in any other form. Every Campaign subscriber will receive the full returns of the election in November.
We need not urge upon our Republican friends the importance of placing this sheet in the hands of all. Let no voter, or family in the State, be without the Sentinel during the Campaign. Wheresoever facts are read and the people have access to truth, Republicanism prevails.
Send in your orders as early as possible.

City Auction Room and Land Office.
GRAND CHANCE TO SECURE A HOME upon such terms that any one who has any industry can do it. Mr. Glidden, who owns one-half of Lockwood & Glidden's Addition, has made me his agent, to sell his lots in said Addition, at unusually low prices, to any one who will improve them, and upon such terms that any one can meet the payments. It is unnecessary to go into argument to convince one who has any judgment that this property, which is situated in the First Ward, must, and will be the most desirable residence property in the city of Milwaukee. It is in full view of the Lake and on high ground which overlooks the city, and a more healthy situation cannot be found. Its location for business men is very desirable, the Horse Railroad passing through it every fifteen or twenty minutes. Much more could be said about this valuable property, but we will only say, any persons who have any desire to purchase any of said Lots, if they will call at my office they can see a map, and I will go with them and show them the Lots, and they can judge for themselves. The terms on which said Lots will be sold are as follows: Ten per cent. in twelve months: 15 per cent. in two years: and 25 per cent. every year thereafter until the amount is paid, with interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum. Interest not to commence until six months after the date of purchase. Here is a chance never before offered, and there is every reason to believe that this property will advance 100 per cent. in less than twelve months. The great advantage of the Horse Railroad must, and will make it very desirable. The Lots are free from all encumbrances whatever. Certificate of title will be furnished to any one who may purchase.

The Homestead Bill.

After repeated failures, the Conference Committee of the two Houses of Congress agreed upon a compromise Homestead Bill, and the report of the Committee was adopted by both branches of the National Legislature.

The provisions of the bill are as follows:

All the land subject to private entry is to be opened for homesteads at 25 cts per acre and also one half of the surveyed public lands which has not yet been offered at public sale, that is only the numbered sections. Preemptors now on the public lands are to have two years after the passage of the act to pay for their lands, and to pay the half price, sixty-two and a half cents per acre.

The Senate are to strike out their section requiring the President to sell the public lands within two years after the survey.

The House conferees insisted on extending the bill to all over twenty-one years of age, whether heads of families or not, and to add the surveyed lands; but this being declined, acceded to the above, with the reservation that they accepted it as the best the Senate would yield, and should insist on its being enlarged hereafter.

The only votes cast against the bill were those of Southern men. They see in it a measure of good beneficent to FREE LABOR and of vast importance to the development and growth of the North-west. Hence the opposition. The bill now only requires the signature of the President to become a law.

The Farm Mortgage Decision.

The press of the State, thus far, with few exceptions, endorse the unanimous decision of our Supreme Court, affirming the validity of the Farm Mortgages, given in aid of the Rail Roads. Among the dissentients is the Madison Argus and Democrat, which talks in this wise:

> This is the severest blow ever administered to the people of this State. It is a more afflicting dispensation than the ravages of a pestilence, the spread of a famine, or the invasion of an army would prove. It will drive from their homesteads not less than twenty-five thousand families, or plunge them in debt beyond the hope of redemption. The people of Wisconsin have already suffered beyond measure from bad legislation, from [illegible] corruption and by the depredations of organized [illegible] and sharks. But this action of the [illegible] for their protection in the [illegible] of their rights is the last fearful blow to their interests and their prosperity.

Much sympathy is felt for those of our citizens who will suffer from this decision; but the public judgment, we think, sustains it as being both equitable and just; and going far to redeem the good name of our State. Such, at least, is the unanimous sentiment hereabouts. The opinion of the Court, as delivered by Justice PAINE, will be found in to-day's paper.

Bates for Lincoln.

We publish this morning the admirable letter of EDWARD BATES, that distinguished son of Missouri, addressed to Mr. BROWNING of Illinois, one of the delegates to the Chicago Convention, giving his reasons for cordially sustaining the nominations of LINCOLN and HAMLIN. This authoritative exposition of his views will, we fancy, effectually dispose of the story, so industriously circulated by the Democratic papers, that "the Bates Party in Missouri" refused to support LINCOLN. Judge BATES' letter will have great weight with conservative and patriotic men in all parts of the country, and especially in Missouri, Illinois and Indiana. We commend the document to the earnest attention of our readers.

News' Logic.

The News, a day or two since, affirmed very positively, that Mr. LINCOLN "opposed the bill voting supplies to the army" during the Mexican war. We denied the statement, and challenged proof of its truth. In reply, the News quotes an expressed opinion of Mr. LINCOLN's, as to "the original justice of the war," and adds:

> Now this reveals clearly that Mr. Lincoln opposed the [illegible] the war, and not only that but he would [illegible] against the "President supplies," if that [illegible] had come up by itself. If this does not prove [illegible] opposed the war, and the granting of supplies to the army in Mexico, we don't know what [illegible].

Possibly not. But the fact, that Mr. LINCOLN never voted against these supplies, is certainly worth more than the News' conjecture as to what "he would have done," had the question come up by itself. The charge which the News trumps up against Mr. LINCOLN was abandoned, two years ago, by its party yoke-fellows in Illinois, and is utterly unfounded.

A Natural Ally.

> Many of the prominent Know Nothings of the country are [illegible] enthusiastically in support of Mr. Lincoln. Mr. [illegible] Ullman, the prince of the order in the United States and a former candidate of the party for Governor of New York, is making speeches for the [illegible] nominees, and adopts the ticket as [illegible] worthy the support of the proscriptive order.

Per contra, the BROOKS's of the N. Y. Express and other "princes of the order" and "prominent Know Nothings," are making speeches against "the Black Republican nominees," and denounce the ticket as unworthy the support of this proscriptive order. Of course, they are the "natural allies" of the News and the Sham Democracy and are entirely out of place in the Republican ranks.

> [illegible] —You [illegible] hear [illegible] the Republican papers about the "Almighty [illegible]. Things are changed. Sambo [illegible] abused "image of God" to a [illegible] account—Republicanism [illegible] negro worshipping, to a nigger [illegible] party. Remember, you won't hear [illegible] of the "Almighty nigger," this fall.

The above neat and dignified paragraph is taken from the editorial columns of the Madison Patriot, which claims to be the official organ of the Wisconsin Democracy. Judging from the sayings and doings at Baltimore and Charleston, it looks as though Sham Democracy stood a much better chance of being "snuffed out" than "the nigger" does. "Things are changed" indeed, as the Patriot says—the "irrepressible conflict" having rent asunder the Democratic party and converted it into two sectional factions, hating each other with intense bitterness and "agitating the 'nigger' question, to the exclusion of everything else.

The Lincoln Coat-of-Arms.

The St. Louis Democrat says that a gentleman from that city, who has just returned from a trip up the Mississippi, encountered, one day last week, an enormous raft, slowly floating down the stream, on which appeared to be seated about twenty hands, all "jolly raftsmen," no doubt. An immense staff, fifty feet high shot up from the middle of the raft, from which floated the American colors. Immediately on the top of the raft was planted a huge rail, about twenty feet high, near the top of which appeared an axe and maul, crossed, forming an excellent representation of the LINCOLN COAT OF ARMS.

This flatboat, its men and devices were loudly cheered along the shore and by passing boats.

JUDGE BATE'S LETTER IN SUPPORT OF LINCOLN.

The Republican Standard-Bearer Warmly Eulogized.

ST. LOUIS, June 11, 1860.

O. H. Browning, Esq., Quincy, Ill.:

DEAR SIR:—When I received your letter of May 22d, I had no thought that the answer would be so long delayed; but, waiving all excuses, I proceed to answer it now.

Under the circumstances of the case, it ought not to have been doubted that I would give Mr. Lincoln's nomination a cordial and hearty support. But in declaring my intention to do so, it is due to myself to state that some of the facts and reasons which have a controlling influence over my mind, and which I think ought to be persuasive arguments with some other men, whose political opinions and antecedents are, in some important particulars, like my own.

There was no good ground for supposing that I felt any pique or dissatisfaction because the Chicago Convention failed to nominate me. I had no such feeling. On party grounds, I had no right to expect the nomination. I had no claims upon the Republicans as a party, for I have never been a member of any party, so as to be bound by any of its dogmas and subject to its discipline, except only the Whig party, which is now broken up and its materials, for the most part, absorbed into other organizations. And thus I am left alone and powerless, indeed, but perfectly free to follow the dictates of my own judgment and to take part in current politics as my own sense of duty and patriotism may require.

Many Republicans, and among them, I think, some of the most moderate and patriotic of that party, honored me with their confidence, and desired to make me their candidate. For this favor I was indebted to the fact that between them and me there was a coincidence of opinion upon certain important questions of government.—They and I agreed in believing that the national government has sovereign power over the Territories, and that it would be impolitic and unwise to use that power for the propagation of negro slavery by planting it in free Territory. Some of them believed also that my nomination, while it would tend to soften the tone of the Republican party, without any abandonment of its principles, might tend also to generalize its character and attract the friendship and support of many, especially in the border States, who, like me, had never been members of their party, but concurred with them in opinion about the government of the Territories. These are the grounds, and I think the only grounds upon which I was supported at all at Chicago.

As to the platform put forth by the Chicago Convention, I have little to say, because whether good or bad, that will not constitute the ground of my support of Mr. Lincoln. I have no great respect for party platforms in general. They are commonly made in times of high excitement, under a pressure of circumstances, and with a view to conciliate present support, rather than to establish a permanent system of principles and line of policy for the future good government of the country. The conventions which form them are transient in their nature; their power and influence are consumed in the using, leaving no continuing obligation upon their respective parties. And hence we need not wonder that the platforms so made, are hardly ever acted out in practice. I shall not discuss their relative merits, but content myself with saying that this Republican platform, though in several particulars it does not conform to my views, is still far better than any published creed, past or present, of the Democrats. And as to the new party, it has not chosen to promulgate any platform at all, except two or three broad generalities which are common to the professions of faith of all parties in the country. No party, indeed, dare ask the confidence of the nation, while openly denying to support the Union and the Constitution, and to enforce the laws. That is a common duty, binding upon every citizen, and the failure to perform it is a crime.

To me it is plain that the approaching contest must be between the Democratic and Republican parties; and, between them, I prefer the latter.

The Democratic party, by the long possession and abuse of power, has grown wanton and reckless; has corrupted itself and perverted the principles of the Government: has set itself openly against the great home interests of the people, by neglecting to protect their industry, and by refusing to improve and keep in order the highways and depots of commerce; and even now is urging a measure in Congress to abdicate the constitutional power and duty to regulate commerce among the States, and to grant to the States the discretionary power to levy tonnage duties upon all our commerce, under the pretence of improving harbors, rivers and lakes; has changed the status of the negro slave by making him no longer mere property, but a politician, an antagonistic power in the State, a power to which all other powers are required to yield, under penalty of a dissolution of the Union; has directed its energies to the gratification of its lusts of foreign domain, as manifested in its persistent efforts to seize upon tropical regions, not because those countries and their incongruous people are necessary, or even desirable, to be incorporated into our Union, but for the mere purpose of making slave States, in order to advance the political power of the party in the Senate and in the choice of the President, so as effectually to transfer the chief powers of the government from the many to the few; has in various instances endangered the equality of the co-ordinate branches of the government, by urgent efforts to enlarge the powers of the Executive at the expense of the legislative department; has attempted to discredit and degrade the Judiciary, by affecting to make it, at first, the arbiter of party quarrels, to become soon and inevitably the passive registrar of party decrees.

In most, if not all these particulars, I understand the Republican party (judging it by its acts and by the known opinions of its leading men,) to be the exact opposite of the Democratic Party; and that is the ground of my preference to the one party over the other. And that alone would be a sufficient reason, if I had not other good reasons for supporting Mr. Lincoln against any man who may be put forward by the Democratic party, as the exponent of its principles and the agent to work out, in practice, its dangerous policies.

The third party, which, by its formation, has destroyed the organizations of the American and Whig parties, has nominated two most excellent men. I know them well as sound statesmen and true patriots. More than thirty years ago I served with them both in Congress, and from that time to this I have always held them in respect and honor. But what can the third party do towards the election of even such men as these against the two great parties which are now in actual contest for the power to rule the nation? It is made up entirely of portions of the disintegrated elements of the late Whig and American parties—good materials, in the main, I admit, but quite too weak to elect any man or establish any principle. The most it can do is, here and there in particular localities, to make a diversion in favor of the Democrats.

In 1856, the Whig and American parties (not forming a new party, but united as allies,) with entire unanimity and some zeal, supported Mr. Fillmore for the Presidency, and with what results? We made a miserable failure, carrying no State but gallant little Maryland. And surely, the united Whigs and Americans of that day had a far greater show of strength and far better prospects of success than any which belong to the Constitutional Union party now. In fact, I see no possibility of success to the third party, except in one contingency not likely to happen this year, for, badly as I think of many of the acts and policies of that party, its cup is not yet full—the day has not yet come when it must dissolve in its own corruptions. But the day is coming and it is not far off. The party has made itself entirely sectional; it has concentrated its very being into one single idea; negro slavery has control of all its faculties, and it can see and hear nothing else—"one stern, tyrannic thought, and makes all other thoughts its slaves!"

But the Democratic party still lives, and while it lives, it and the Republican party are the only real antagonistic powers in the nation, and for the present, I must choose between them. I choose the latter, as wiser, purer, younger and less corrupted by time and self-indulgence. The candidates nominated at Chicago are both men who, as individuals and politicians, rank with the foremost of the country. I have heard no objection to Mr. Hamlin personally, but only to his geographical position, which is thought by some to be too far North and East to allow his personal good qualities to exercise their proper influence over the nation at large. But the nomination for the Presidency is the great controlling act. Mr. Lincoln, his character, talents, opinions and history will be criticized by thousands, while the candidate for the Vice Presidency will be passed over in comparative silence.

Mr. Lincoln's nomination took the public by surprise, because, until just before the event, it was unexpected. But really it ought not to have excited any surprise, for such unforseen nominations are common in our political history. Polk and Pierce by the Democrats, and Harrison and Taylor by the Whigs, were all nominated in this extemporaneous manner—all of them were elected. I have known Mr. Lincoln for more than 20 years, and therefore have a right to speak of him with some confidence. As an individual he has earned a high reputation for truth, courage, candor, morals and amiability; so that, as a man, he is most trustworthy. And in this particular, he is more entitled to our esteem than some other men, his equals, who had far better opportunities and aids in early life. His talents and the will to use them to the best advantage, are unquestionable; and the proof is found in the fact that, in every position in life, from his humble beginning to his present well-earned elevation he has more than fulfilled the best hopes of his friends. And now, in the full vigor of his manhood and in the honest pride of having made himself what he is, he is the peer of the first men of the nation, well able to sustain himself and advance his cause, against any adversary, and in any field where mind and knowledge are the weapons used.

In politics he has but acted out the principles of his own moral and intellectual character. He has not concealed his thoughts, nor hidden his light under a bushel. With the boldness of conscious rectitude and the frankness of downright honesty, he has not failed to avow his opinions of public affairs upon all fitting occasions.

This I know may subject him to the carping censure of that class of politicians who mistake cunning for wisdom, and falsehood for ingenuity; but such men as Lincoln must act in keeping with their own characters, and hope for success only by advancing the truth prudently and maintaining it bravely. All his old political antecedents are, in my judgment, exactly right, being square up to the old Whig standard. And as to his views about "the pestilent negro question," I am not aware that he has gone one step beyond the doctrines publicly and habitually avowed by the great lights of the Whig party—Clay, Webster, and their fellows, and indeed sustained and carried out by the Democrats themselves, in their wiser and better days.

The following, I suppose, are in brief his opinions upon that subject: 1. Slavery is a domestic institution within the States which choose to have it, and it exists within those States beyond the control of Congress. 2 Congress has supreme legislative power over all the Territories, and may, at its discretion, allow or forbid the existence of slavery within them. 3. Congress, in wisdom and sound policy, ought not so to exercise its power, directly or indirectly, as to plant and establish slavery in any Territory theretofore free 4. And that it is unwise and impolitic in the Government of the United States, to acquire tropical regions for the mere purpose of converting them into slave States.

These, I believe, are Mr. Lincoln's opinions upon the matter of slavery in the Territories, and I concur in them. They are no new inventions, made to suit the exigencies of the hour, but have come down to us, as the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution have, sanctioned by the venerable authority of the wise and good men who established our institutions. They are conformable to law, principle and wise policy, and their utility is proven in practice by the as yet unbroken current of our political history. They will prevail, not only because they are right in themselves, but also because a great and still growing majority of the people believe them to be right, and the sooner they are allowed to prevail in peace and harmony, the better for all concerned, as well those who are against them, as those who are for them.

I am aware that small partisans, in their little warfare against opposing leaders, do sometimes assail them by the trick of tearing from their contexts some particular objectionable phrases, penned, perhaps, in the hurry of composition, or spoken in the heat of oral debate, and holding them up to the public as the leading doctrines of the person assailed, and drawing from them their own uncharitable inferences. That the line of attack betrays a little mind conscious of its weakness, for the falsity of its logic, is not more apparent than the injustice of its design. No public man can stand that ordeal, and, however willing men may be to see it applied to their adversaries, all flinch from the torture when applied to themselves. In fact, the man who never said a foolish thing, will hardly be able to prove that he ever said many wise ones.

I consider Mr. Lincoln a sound, safe, national man. He could not be sectional if he tried. His birth, his education, the habits of his life, and his geographical position, compel him to be national. All his feelings and interests are identified with the great valley of the Mississippi, near whose centre he has spent his whole life. That Valley is not a section, but, conspicuously, the body of the nation, and, large as it is, it is not capable of being divided into sections, for the great river cannot be divided. It is one and indivisible, and the North and the South are alike necessary to its comfort and prosperity. Its people, too, in all their interests and affections, are as broad and generous as the regions they inhabit. They are emigrants, a mixed multitude, coming from every State in the Union, and from most countries in Europe; they are unwilling, therefore, to submit to any one petty local standard. They love the nation as a whole, and they love all its parts, for they are bound to them all, not only by a feeling of common interest and mutual dependence, but also by the recollections of childhood and youth, by blood and friendship, and by all those social and domestic charities which sweeten life, and make this world worth living in. The Valley is beginning to feel its power, and will soon be strong enough to dictate the law of the land. Whenever that state of things shall come to pass, it will be most fortunate for the nation to find the powers of government lodged in the hands of men whose habits of thought, whose position and surrounding circumstances constrain them to use those powers for general and not sectional ends.

I give my opinion freely in favor of Mr Lincoln, and I hope that, for the good of the whole country, he may be elected. But it is not my intention to take any active part in the canvass. For many years past I have had little to do with public affairs, and have aspired to no political office; and now, in view of the mad excitement which convulses the country, and the general disruption and disorder of parties and the elements which compose them, I am more than ever assured that for me, personally, there is no political future, and I accept the condition with cheerful satisfaction. Still I cannot discharge myself from the life-long duty to watch the conduct of men in power, and to resist, so far as a mere private man may, the fearful progress of official corruption, which for several years past has sadly marred and defiled the fair fabric of our government.

If Mr. Lincoln should be elected, coming in as a new man at the head of a young party never before in power, he may render a great service to his country, which no Democrat could render. He can march straight forward in the discharge of his high duties, guided only by his own good judgment and honest purposes, without any necessity to temporize with established abuses, to wink at the delinquencies of old party friends, or to unlearn and discard the bad official habits that have grown up under the misgovernment of his Democratic predecessors. In short, he can be an honest and bold reformer on easier and cheaper terms than any Democratic President can be, for, in proceeding in the good work of cleansing and purifying the administrative departments, he will have no occasion to expose the vices, assail the interests, or thwart the ambition of his political friends.

Begging your pardon for the length of this letter, I remain, sir, with great respect,

Your friend and obedient servant

EDWARD BATES.

WHIPPING CHILDREN IN SCHOOL.—Recently, in New Orleans, a teacher was prosecuted for whipping the son of the plaintiff, a lad of sixteen. Damages of $5,000 were claimed. The Court ruled that a teacher has no right to punish a child unless a special permit is given; that the mere fact of sending a child to school cannot be construed into a delegation of parental authority; and that every act of punishment on the part of a teacher, without special permission, may give just ground for an action of assault and battery.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.—The report of the M. W. Grand Patriarch of the National Division of the Sons of Temperance gives the following information in regard to the progress of the order: In twelve years previous to and including 1859, there have been initiated 756,347 members, or an average of 63,000 per annum. These members have paid into their subordinate divisions, in the twelve years, the sum of $5,034,477. The subordinate divisions have paid to sustain their grand divisions $174,785. The grand divisions have paid to sustain the national division the sum of $20,970. In these twelve years $1,415,465 have been paid for benefits to members in sickness.

THEODORE PARKER.—In a discourse referring to Theodore Parker, on Sunday last, the Rev. Mr. Cordner, of Montreal, when speaking of his devotion to the cause of human freedom, stated that he knew not whether ever Mr. Parker had put the opinion on record; but he had said to him in conversation, that he considered a constitutional monarchy, limited by the British, the best form of securing the general liberty of the people.

Decision of the Supreme Court, June 19th, 1860.

WILLIAM D. CLARK VS. FARMINGTON AND WIFE.

Action to Foreclose a Mortgage Given to the La C. & Mil. R. R. Co. Appealed from Dodge Circuit.

BY THE COURT, PAINE, J.—The cash capital in this State was inadequate to the building of its railroads, or even to the payment of such proportion as is usually paid in cash for stock in the older and more wealthy communities. But the farmers along the routes having confidence in the success of the enterprise, and the ultimate benefit to themselves, were willing to mortgage their farms for stock, placing the securities in the hands of the companies, to negotiate and raise the funds necessary for building the roads. This practice was extensively adopted along most of the roads in the State. The securities were taken and negotiated by the companies, and default having been made in payment, a number of actions have been brought to collect the notes, or foreclose the mortgages.—The defence is now set up, that the companies had no power, under their charter, to take these securities for stock, and that they were therefore void.

As is usual in such cases, many considerations were alluded to in the arguments of Counsel, which have no bearing upon the legal question presented. If the farm mortgagors influenced, perhaps, by public spirit, combined with the hopes of private gain, have mortgaged their farms for stock, the facts that those hopes have fallen upon the enterprises, and that the execution of their contracts may prove hard and calamitous to many of them, furnish no reason in law why they should not be executed, provided they were such contracts as might in the law be made. On the other hand, if the companies had no power to take these notes and mortgages for any purpose, so that they were utterly void in their hands, the fact that large amounts have been invested in them, which will be lost to the purchasers is no reason why the courts should hesitate to declare them void.

It has been contended on the part of the plaintiffs that even if the companies had not the power to take these notes and mortgages, for the particular purpose for which they were in fact taken, yet that they had power to take notes and mortgages for some purposes and that being so, that these could be enforced in the hands of bona fide purchasers for value, which they claim to be. Perhaps some of the cases might be decided upon the question of power, and as the conclusion to which we have arrived upon that, will render a decision of the others unnecessary, we will proceed to address ourselves to that, without further notice of other considerations.

The question is, had the companies power to take these notes and mortgages for stocks? In this case it arises under the charter authorizing the construction of a railroad from Milwaukee to La Crosse. The counsel for the defendants contend that the company had not the power, and that the transaction was a violation of its charter. To lay the foundation on which to sustain this position, they cited a large number of authorities establishing the proposition that a corporation has no powers except such as are conferred by its charter; and that its acts outside of those are void. This is too well settled to admit of dispute, and a moment's consideration of the great increase of corporations in modern times, and of the vast powers entrusted to them, as well as of the natural tendency of their accumulated capital to accumulate also influence and power, is sufficient to satisfy every intelligent mind of the absolute necessity of adhering to the rule of confining these bodies strictly to the accomplishment of those ends and objects which their charters authorize, and prohibiting them from all others. But while this is conceded, it is also true that to these organizations is entrusted the accomplishment of "enterprizes of great pith and moment," which, when properly executed, contributes greatly to the convenience and prosperity of mankind, and even to the advancement of civilization—enterprizes impossible to private unassociated capital, and which sometimes task even the enormous energies of corporations beyond their strength, so that after expending the best efforts of human ingenuity to accomplish the end, they either fail entirely, or succeed perhaps in completing an improvement, of which others may reap the benefit, only by the pecuniary ruin of its originators.

These considerations are sufficient to show that the rule that corporations can exercise no powers not delegated, should not from an undiscriminating timidity or apprehension, be extended so as to unwisely and unnecessarily cripple and restrict them, as to the means of executing the powers that are delegated. Powerful as they are, it must be assumed that the law is powerful enough not only to control and confine them within their proper limits, but also within those limits, to allow them the exercise of a reasonable discretion in selecting among the various means that may be adapted to the execution of their powers. It is accordingly held, in a large class of cases, many of which are cited by the counsel for the plaintiff, and which we do not deem it necessary to refer to in detail, that a corporation may adopt any of the usual means employed to accomplish the purposes authorized by its charter. It is true that this right of selecting among the means adapted to the end, is generally stated as limited to those usual and necessary. But precisely what limits those terms imply, does not seem to be well defined.

The Constitution of the United States gave Congress the power to pass all laws "necessary and proper" for carrying into execution the powers conferred upon the Federal Government. That Government chartered a bank, and its constitutionality being called in question, the Supreme Court of the United States, placed a construction upon these words. They held that the word "necessary" did not imply that the means used must be absolutely indispensible, but that the government might select any which were "needful," "requisite," or "conducive to," the end, and tendered directly to its accomplishment, and therefore might charter a bank. Whether or not it justifies that conclusion, there is undoubtedly great force in the reasoning of Chief Justice Marshall, as to the necessity of the power on the part of the Government to select convenient means for the execution of its powers. And bearing in mind the disproportion between the powers of a government, and those of an ordinary corporation; we think that reasoning goes to sustain the right of the latter to an equal freedom in selecting among various means proper for the execution of its powers. There is a close relation between the principles applicable to the government of the U. S. and those applicable to the corporation. The former, like the latter, can exercise no powers except such as are delegated to it either expressly or implied as necessarily incident to those delegated. The reasons for confining both within the limits of the delegated powers, are equally obvious and familiar, yet this being constantly conceded, it by no means follows, that either, within those limits should be restricted with narrow and illiberal rigor, in the choice of means, adapted to the execution of their respective powers. And the same reasoning which excludes such rigor in the case of the government, in our opinion justifies its exclusion in the case of a corporation. But in applying it to the latter, due allowance should be made for the difference in the magnitude of their powers, for it would not follow that a corporation might adopt any means which the government might.

But it is unnecessary to pursue this point further, as it has been expressly passed upon by this court. In the case of Madison, &c., Plank Road Co. vs. Watertown, &c., Plank Road Co, 5 Wis. 173 it was held that a corporation is not restricted to the means either "usual" or "necessary," but might select those "convenient and adopted to the end," though "unusual" and not absolutely "necessary." It was a Plank Road Company, and its charter gave it no power to loan money; but the Court says that if it had seen fit to make a loan to one of its contractors to enable him to complete his contract, though unusual, it would have been a legitimate means of executing their power to build the road. When the case was here consequently, and it appeared that the Company had undertaken to assist in the building of another road, then its acts were held void, but this detracts nothing from the first decision.

This doctrine must of course be properly understood. It does not mean that a corporation may engage in a seperate distinct business, not authorized by its charter, as a means of raising funds to accomplish the funds authorized. This it could not do. A railroad company could not engage in banking, or manufacturing, or speculating in real estate, as a means of raising money to build a railroad. It is only that it may adopt any convenient means proper in themselves, tending directly to the execution of the powers conferred, and not amounting to the transaction of any distinct unauthorized business; though such means may not have been usually adopted in the execution of like powers.

We have, then, two established propositions of law: First, a corporation can exercise no powers except those conferred by its charter; Second, in executing those powers it may adopt any proper and convenient means tending directly to their accomplishment, and not amounting to the transaction of a separate unauthorized business.

In order to decide this case, two questions remain to be determined. Was the taking of the note and mortgage for stock, an attempt by the company to execute powers not delegated? or was it a mere means of executing those that were conferred? If it was the latter, then was it a means which the company was prohibited from using?

Upon the first question there seems to be no room for doubt. The company did not attempt to do anything, except to execute its power of building a railroad. The defendant was willing to take stock, but had not the money to pay for it. He was willing to give his note for it, and secure it by a mortgage. The company took it in payment, with the sole intention of transferring it to raise the money. The result is the same as it would have been if the defendant had mortgaged his farm to a third party and obtained the money himself and paid it for his stock. In the end, by either method, the company has the money; the defendant the stock, and the third party the mortgage. The company has simply resorted to a double transaction to get the money for its stock, instead of a single one. But it was a means tending directly to the execution of its power of building a railroad, by disposing of its stock for the money necessary therefor.

The other question is, whether this means prohibited to the Company? And towards this point the strongest argument for the mortgagor is directed. It is said that the charter provides a specific method of raising funds for building the road; that is by opening books for subscriptions for stock, and then requiring payment from the subscibers; and that this method having been provided for, every other is necessarily excluded.—As a part of the argument, it is assumed that the charter contemplates and requires a payment in cash, and therefore that the Company is in effect forbidden to receive anything else as such. This assumption is of course necessary, for the validity of the whole argument depends upon it. Let us examine whether it is correct.

There is no express provision in the charter that the stock must be paid for in cash — Is such a provision implied? It was suggested that the language fixing the amount of each share at one hundred dollars, necessarily implies that the payments must be in cash. It was said that "dollars" meant money, and was not descriptive of anything else.

But this suggestion seems entitled to but little weight when it is remembered that money is the standard of value, and is used as the representative and measure of the value of all other articles. Thus a note to be paid in specific articles is drawn for the payment of so many dollars in the articles agreed on. The use of the denominations of money to fix the amount in value is necessary in all such instruments. And the mere circumstance that the Legislature used that language in fixing the amount of each share of the capital stock cannot be considered as indicating any intention that the shares must necessarily be paid for in cash. Because such a literal construction would require the Company to keep its capital stock consisting of money. For that capital stock is to continue after the road is built, and would still consist of shares of one hundred dollars. And if the use of the word "dollars" necessarily requires each share to be paid for in cash in the first instance, it would equally require it to continue in money.

But the character instead of attempting to prescribe the manner of payment, expressly leaves it under the control of the Directors. It provides that they may re-open the books for subscription or open new ones; may decide the amount to be paid on subscription, and the "time, manner and properties" in which the subsequent installments shall be paid. This power of the directors to prescribe the "manner" of payment is directly repugnant to the theory under consideration For if the character had positively provided that payment should be made in cash and not otherwise, then it was idle to say that the Directors might prescribe the manner, for it was already fixed beyond their control, the power to prescribe the manner of payment includes that of directing in what it should consist, which would of course be limited by the general purposes of the character.

It also gives them the power to make "such convenants, and contracts and agreements with any person or persons, co-partnership or corporation whatsoever as the execution and management of the works and the convenience and interests of the Company may require." This is certainly comprehensive language, and includes the power to make the contract in question, unless it is limited by more specific provisions relating directly to that subject matter, and we find none having that effect.

But it is said that the charter provides for stock subscription books, and that the defendant never subscribed in a book, and therefore he is not a stockholder. But is that absolutely essential? True, the charter provides for opening books and for subscriptions therein, and the same clause implies that a part should be paid, at the time of subscribing, and the remainder in instalments, as the Directors should require. But suppose a party should be ready to pay for his stock at once? If he pays the money, am I the company issues to him the stock, is he not a stockholder? Is it not a valid transaction? Or must he necessarily enter into a contract to pay, although ready to pay at once? Would the company not be authorized to receive payment and deliver the stock under its general power to make whatever contracts the convenience or interests of the company might require, even though the formality of a stock subscription was not complied with? We cannot doubt it, and if such a transaction would be valid with one paying cash, it would be equally valid with one paying by note or mortgage, provided the company had power to take them in payment. So that it is left as before, depending simply on the question of power.

It is not true, as seems to be assumed, that the great primary object of the charter is to raise an amount of money equal to the capital stock; the primary object is to build and equip a railroad. Money is necessary as a means, but it is not the end. And we can see no objection whatever to a railroad company issuing stock and taking in payment materials or labor, or land necessary for its road. So far as it can build and equip its road for stock, it is the most simple and direct method of accomplishing it. It gets at the object, then, by a single transaction, when it would require two, if the subscriber must first pay the money and then receive it back again for whatever he furnished. And we think it might be safely asserted that no railroad car was ever built in the country without disposing of more or less stock in payment for labor, materials, or land. And there are but very few cases, where the propriety of this course, or the power of the companies so to dispose of it was ever called in question, and in those the power was sustained; while there are many cases where such contracts have been enforced, without question, disputes having arisen upon other points.

The following may be referred to as illustrations: Vermont Central R. R. Co. vs. George Clayes. 21 Verm, 30: Boody vs. R. R. Co. 24 id, 660. These are cases where a large proportion of the payments to contractors were to be made in stock. Moore vs. Hudson R. R. Co, 12 Barb. 156; Porter vs. Buckfield Branch R. R., 32 Maine, 536; Barker et al. vs. Fr. & Rut R. R. C., 27 Verm. 767, and many others that might be referred to, are of the same character. The multitude of cases of this character, in no question which has been made as to the power of the corporation to make such disposition of their stock, considered in connection with the well known strictness of the law of corporations and the ability and acuteness of the profession, usually not unwilling to raise any question upon which there is any hope of success, is entitled to more weight, against the position here contended for, than a limited number of positive adjudications.

But reliance is placed upon several cases which have held that where by statute commissioners were appointed to take subscriptions preliminary to the organization of a corporation, and were required to receive a specified sum at the time of subscriptions, that a subscription taken by them without a compliance with that condition, would be invalid. These cases are the following:—"Hibernia Turnpike Co. vs. Henderson, 8th Serg. and Rawle, 218," and several subsequent cases in Pennsylvania, following that, "Jenkins vs. Union Turnpike Co," 1st Cal. cases in error, 86; and "Crocker vs. Crane," 21 Wend 211.

It would be a sufficient answer to the argument attempted to be derived from them to say that they are entirely inapplicable to a contract made by a corporation after it has once acquired a legal existence and capacity to act. And the very reasoning upon which they proceed clearly implies that those same courts would not have applied the same rule to such a case. For the basis upon which they rest, is, that at the time of these subscriptions, the corporation which they are to organize has no existence, and that the commissioners are simply ministerial agents, clothed with no discretion or power to contract, and can only pursue the strict letter of the statute. It may well be urged that where the law requires the payment of a specified sum as a common precedent to the organization of the company, that its intention was that such payment should be made in cash. Until that was paid there would be no corporation in existence, no authorized purpose for the accomplishment of which any other article could be received—nobody clothed with any discretion in the matter or capacity to regulate it by contract. These cases may therefore be considered to be law, and they by no means establish the proposition, that after a corporation has acquired existence and power to contract, that it may not by contract receive in payment for stock anything necessary for the execution of its purposes; on the contrary the opposite inference is to be derived from them.

In Crocker vs. Crane, it was intimated that the Commissioners had no authority to receive worthless checks or uncurrent money in lieu of cash, and it was said they could not have received "stocks or mortgages."—But this was evidently placed upon the considerations we have suggested. For the learned Judge who gave the opinion, quoted, among other cases, that of Goshen Turnpike Co. vs. Hurtin, 9 John 217, which was an action on a promissory note, evidently given after the organization of the company, for five shares of stock. The action was sustained, and the Court said "it was to be intended that the defendant had duly become a stockholder to that amount." It is not to be supposed that Judge Cowen, with his proneness to comment upon authorities, would have quoted this case approvingly upon another point, without noticing its conflict with the decision on the main point, if he had supposed the acts of a corporation in existence stood upon the same footing with the acts of the Commissioners, in taking the steps preliminary to its creation.

But it is very doubtful whether even the doctrines of these cases is sustained by the weigh of authority. In the case of Jenkins vs. Union Turnpike Co., the decision of the Supaeme Court of New York, was in favor of the validity of the subscription. This decision was reversed by the Court of Errors, but it is pretty evident from subsequent decisions in that State, some of which are quoted in Crocker vs. Crane, that the decision of the Court of Errors was not satisfactory — In the case in 8th Serg and Raw., Justice Duncan dessented, and noticed the reluctance of the New York Courts to follow the decision of the Court of Errors,

In Central R. R. Co. vs. Clayes. 21 Verm. 30. the commissioners took a note for the payment required by the statue on subscription. It was delivered by them on carporation, on its organizasion, and the court held that it was valid, and its payment might be enforced. "In Greenville & C. R. R. Co. vs. Woodsides. 5 Rich. 148, while deciding the case upon another ground, the court say expressly that they are not inclined to admit that a note taken by the commissioners was not such a payment as the statute required The case of "McNeal. vs. Russel," 12 Ire. 224, is a very strong case against the doctrine contended for by the counsel for the mortgagor here. There the Statute expressly provided that five dollars should be paid on subscription, and that if not paid the subscriptions should be void. The commissioners took a bond in payment. The court held that by reason of the express provision of the statue the subscription was void, but that the bond was valid. They say, "So in this case the defendant could not have been compelled to pay the $5, a share by force of the subscription, yet if he and the other subscribers chose to waive the provisions thus made for their benefit respectively, and agreed, that upon his giving bond for the same, it should be taken as cash and be admitted into the company, and he deliberately does so, it is not seen that any principle or law or justice is violated, or that that is any reason why he should not pay this as much as any voluntary bond."

It is very doubtful, therefore, whether the weight of authority is not against the doctrine of these cases, but even if conceded correct they do not support the position contended for. See also Redfield on Railways. 87—8.

Cases already referred to, and a number of others cited in the plaintiff's brief, sustain fully the proposition, that a corporation may receive a note in payment for stock, and, that having done so, they cannot refuse the party giving it the privilege of a corporation. In "R. R. Co. vs. Hickman," 28 Penn. St., 318, it is expressly decided that the provisions of the statute concerning the powers of the Commissioners are not applicable to the acts of the Company after it is organized.—And that under the general power to prescribe the manner of paying for stock, and to make contracts, &c., it may take payment in labor, materials, or anything necessary for the building of the road. In "Carr vs. Le Fevre," 27 Penn. St., 413, it was held that a transfer of land to be used for the purposes of the corporation, was a good payment for stock. In "Brown and Brothers vs. Illius," 27 Conn. 84, the entire stock of a corporation had been paid for in real and personal estate necessary for the use of the Company. The court below charged that it was a valid payment, and though the Supreme Court did not find it necessary to decide the point, they say they are "strongly inclined to think there was no error on this point."

In the case of "Treadwell and another vs. Salisbury Man. Co. and others," 7 Gray, 405, it was held that where the circumstances of an existing corporation justifies a sale of its entire property, its taking payment in the stock of a new corporation did not render the transaction illegal. The Court said "the new stock is taken in lieu of money, to be distributed among those stockholders who are willing to receive it, or to be converted into money by those who do not desire to retain it." In the "Cincinnati R. R. Company vs. Clarkson," 7 Ind., 595, it was held that the Company had power to take subscriptions for stock payable in real estate, though the case does not show what were the provisions of the charter.

We are satisfied, therefore, that the authorities utterly fail to sustain the position here contended for, that this company had no power to dispose of its stock for anything except money. But that, on the contrary, they show with entire unanimity, as well by silent acquiescence, as by positive adjudication, that it had the power to dispose of it in such a manner as would accomplish the objects authorized by the charter.

It was said that taking the mortgage was an unwarrantable dealing in real estate, but this is not so. There is nothing in the transaction approaching a speculation in lands.—The mortgage is taken as a mere security, and as such is only an incident to the debt. It is simply obtaining, by contract, what the company could obtain by operation of law on any ordinary stock subscription, where there was default in payment. Judgment could be recovered which would be a lien on real estate. It would be a mere means of collecting the debt, and the mortgage was nothing more. Suppose such a suit brought, could not the company settle it on the party securing the debt by mortgage? Could they not take from a willing party, by contract, what the law would give them against him if unwilling, that is a security for the debt on his real estate? We can see no reason to doubt it. And if they could do it on the settlement of a suit, there is no more objection to it in the first instance, without suit.—Aug. & A., on Corp., § 156.

But it is further said that such a contract is a fraud on the cash paying subscribers.—It is a sufficient answer to say that those subscribers do not complain. If the transaction is liable to no other objection, a party to it cannot set up his own fraud to defeat his contract, when the party defrauded chooses to acquiesce. Redfield on Railways, 87 8 & note. But we are unable to perceive that the objection is valid. The Directors are the agents of the stockholders, and their acts within the powers conferred are binding on the latter. This mode of receiving payment for stock was directed by them, and, it being within the scope of their authority, it was to be deemed assented to by all. It is to be assumed that the Company could negociate the securities for their present worth, which would be equivalent to the full amount paid on successive installments.

We are, therefore, clearly of the opinion that the company had power to make this contract, and that the securities are valid. It was not an attempt to go outside of its charter and accomplish thangs unauthorized, but was a means of executing the powers granted as to which, except so far as positively restricted, the company possessed the powers of an individual. Says Justice Nelson in "Wilmarth vs. Crawford," 10 Wend., 342: "Unless there is some express restriction, either in the charter, or some other act of the Legislature, as to the nature of the evidence of the debts due to, or from them, they have in this respect the same powers that belong to individuals. Corporations, while acting in the scope of their authority under the act creating them, that is in the execution of the powers granted to, or duties imposed upon them by the charters, are to this extent and end like natural persons. And our whole conclusion is only an application to corporations of the rule familiar as between individuals, that securities may, by contract, be received in payment."

The Court below erred in holding these securities invalid, and the judgment must be reversed, with costs, and the case remanded for further proceeding.

NEW ARRANGEMENTS.

HUNN & CROSBY,

No. 184 East Water St., Milwaukee.

Two doors north of Uncle Ben's Hat Store.

TAKE THIS OCCASION TO ANNOUNCE to their friends, and the public at large, that they have removed from their old quarters to their present location, for the purpose of obtaining more ample accommodations for their business, and to keep pace with the requirements of their trade. We have just made heavy additions to our stock, which makes ours the best assorted Family Grocery in town, and we intend to be, in future, as we always have been in the past, the first in the market with every novelty of the season. We are receiving goods every week from the East, thereby always keeping our stock fresh and full. Everything pertaining to the trade can be found at our establishment, and we are prepared to sell at wholesale as well as retail, on as favorable terms as any concern in town. Teas, Sugars, Coffees, Dried Fruits, Hermetically Sealed Fruits, and every other article usually found in first-class family groceries, are sold by us, and always warranted as represented. We will sell you a better Tea for fifty cents, than you can buy anywhere else in town for seventy five, and as good a one for forty, as our windy cotemporaries, who make such a blow on TEAS will or can sell for fifty. We mean what we say, and stand ready to verify it every hour in the day, and every day in the week. We make it a point never to be undersold, and want it distinctly understood that we do our business upon that principle.

Country merchants can always sort up their stock with us, to a good advantage. We will sell you goods by the package as low as any of the wholesale dealers down town.

Butter and Eggs are received by us daily, from our agents in the country.

TERMS CASH.

We cordially invite our friends and customers, and the public generally, to call and see us in our new institution, and make an examination of our goods and prices. Particular attention paid to orders.

DR. MOTT'S CHALYBEATE RESTORATIVE PILLS OF IRON.

AN APERIENT AND STOMACHIC preparation of IRON purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest Medical authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice.

The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Innoxious in all maladies in which it has been tried, it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

In Debility, Nervous Affections, Emaciation, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Incipient Consumption, Scrofulous Tuberculosis, Salt Rheum, Mismenstruation, Whites, Chlorosis, Liver Complaints, Chronic Headaches, Rheumatism, Intermittent Fevers, Pimples on the Face, &c.

In cases of General Debility, whether the result of acute disease or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bed-ridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly re-appeared in the busy world, as if just returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise for which the physician has no name.

In Nervous Affections of all kinds and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and overheating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency which forms them.

In Dyspepsia, innumerable as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant Costiveness.

In unchecked Diarrhœa, even when advanced to Dysentery, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remittent hectic, which generally indicate Incipient Consumption, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

In Scrofulous Tuberculosis, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well-known liabilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In Rheumatism, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In Intermittent Fevers it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West will probably be one of high renown and usefulness.

No remedy has ever been discovered in the whole history of medicine, which exerts such prompt, happy, and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise, immediately follow its use.

Put up in neat flat metal boxes containing 50 pills, price 50 cents per box; for sale by Druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on receipt of the price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to

SOYER'S SULTANA'S SAUCE,

For Hot and Cold Dishes of all Kinds.

THIS MOST DELICIOUS and appetising Sauce, invented by the renowned "SOYER," for the London Reform Club, is, since his decease, manufactured by the well known house of CROSSE & BLACKWELL, London, from the original recipe. It is the favorite sauce in England and on the Continent, with a high and growing reputation among American epicures, and is much approved of as a stimulant to the appetite and aid in digestion.

Opinions of the London Press.

"We recommend our correspondent to try MONS. SOYER's new Sauce, entitled the 'Sultana's Sauce.' It is made after the Turkish recipe; its flavor is excellent, and it affords considerable aid in cases of SLOW AND WEAK DIGESTION."—The Lancet.

"Savory, Piquant and Spicy, worthy the genius of Soyer."—Observer.

"A most valuable adjunct to Fish, Flesh and Fowl, and should have a place on every table."—Atlas.

SAVE YOUR CARPETS!

THE GREAT ENQUIRY HAS BEEN made for a number of years by housekeepers, What shall we put under our carpets to protect them from wear and moth? This grand, valuable discovery was effected and patented April 1st, 1856, by J. R. HARRINGTON, and is called Harrington's Patent Carpet Lining.

This article having proved its utility has now come into general use, so much so that scarcely a carpet will be put down without it, and its cheapness puts it within the reach of every family. It is warranted to add fifty per cent to the durability of Carpets, Oil Cloths and Matting. The details of its merits are too numerous to mention. It can be obtained at any of the principal Carpet Stores throughout the United States, and is manufactured only by the New York Carpet Lining Company. Also, extensive manufacturers of Mammoth Cotton Batting, and Comfortables. The best and cheapest that have ever been introduced in the market.

This caution is rendered essentially necessary, as large quantities of inferior and defective Linens are prepared, season after season and sealed with the name of RICHARDSON, by Irish Houses, who, regardless of the injury thus inflicted alike on the American consumer and the manufacturers of the genuine Goods, will not readily abandon a business so profitable while purchasers can be imposed on with Goods of a worthless character.

HOME AND EUROPEAN DEMAND.

THE REASON WHY, IS THAT BY Nature's own process it restores the natural color permanently after the hair becomes gray; supplies the natural fluids, and thus makes it grow on bald heads, removes all dandruff, itching and heat from the scalp, quiets and tones up the nerves, and thus cures all nervous headache, and may be relied upon to cure all diseases of the scalp and hair; it will stop and keep it from falling off; makes it soft, glossy, healthy, and beautiful and if used by the young two or three times a week, it will never fall or become gray; then readers, read the following and judge for yourselves:

New York, Jan. 8, 1858.

MESSRS O. J. WOOD & CO.:

GENTLEMEN: Having heard a good deal about Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and my hair being quite gray, I made up my mind to lay aside the prejudice which, in common with a great many persons, I had against all manner of patent medicines, and a short time ago I commenced using your article, to test it for myself.

The result has been so very satisfactory that I am very glad that I did so, and in justice to you, as well as for the encouragement of others who may be as gray as I was, but who having my prejudice without my reasons for setting it aside, are unwilling to give your Restorative a trial till they have further proof, and the best proof being ocular demonstration, I write you this letter, which you may show to any such, and also direct them to me for further proof, who am in and out of the N. Y. Wire Railing Establishment every day.

My hair is now its natural color and much improved in appearance every way, being glossier and thicker and much more healthy looking.

I am, Yours Respectfully,

HENRY JENKINS.

Cor. Columbus and Carroll sts., Brooklyn.

LIVINGSTON, Ala., Feb. 14, 1858.

PROF. WOOD—Dear Sir: Your Hair Restorative has done much good in this part of the country.—My hair has been slightly diminishing for several years, caused, I suppose, from a slight burn when I was quite an infant. I have been using your Hair Restorative for six weeks and I find that I have a fine head of hair now growing, after having used all other remedies known, to no effect. I think it the most valuable remedy now extant, and advise all who are afflicted that way to use your remedy.

You can publish this if you think proper.

Yours, &c., S. W. MIDDLETON.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9, 1857.

PROF. WOOD—Dear Sir: Your Hair Restorative is proving itself beneficial to me. The front, and also the back part of my head almost lost its covering, was in fact BALD. I have used but two half pint bottles of your Restorative, and now the top of my head is well studded with a promising crop of young hair, and the front is also receiving its benefit. I have tried other preparations without any benefit whatever. I think from my own personal recommendation, I can induce many others to try it.

Yours, respectfully, D. R. THOMAS, M. D. No. 461 Vine street.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz: Large, medium, and small; the small holds ½ a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, 40 per cent. more in proportion, and retails for $3 a bottle.

O. J. WOOD & CO., Proprietors, 312 Broadway, New York, (in the great N. Y. Wire Railing Establishment,) and 114 Market St., St. Louis, Mo.

THE GREATEST

MEDICAL DISCOVERY

OF THE AGE.

MR. KENNEDY, OF ROXBURY, HAS discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures

EVERY KIND OF HUMOR

FROM

THE WORST SCROFULA DOWN TO A COMMON PIMPLE.

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases, both thunder humor. He has now in his possession over one hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.

One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of pimples on the face.

Two or three bottles will cure the system of biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth and stomach.

Three or five bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of Erysipelas.

One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the eyes.

Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruptions of the skin.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of ringworm.

Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three or four bottles are warranted to cure salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

ROXBURY, Mass.

DEAR MADAM:—The reputation of the Medical Discovery, in curing all kinds of humors, is so well established, by the unanimous voice of all who have ever used it, that I need not say anything on the subject, as the most skillful physicians and the most careful druggists in the country are unanimous in its praise.

In presenting the Medical Discovery to your notice, I do it with a full knowledge of its curative powers, in relieving all, and curing most of the diseases to which you are unfortunately so liable. That most excruciating disease to an affectionate mother.

NURSING SORE MOUTH

is cured as if by a miracle; your own temper is restored to its natural sweetness, and your babe from short and fretful naps to calm and sweet slumbers; and the Medical Discovery becomes a fountain of blessings to your husband and household.

In the more advanced stages of it extends to the stomach, causing

DYSPEPSIA

which is nothing but canker on the stomach; then on the intestines and creating a sinking, gone feeling, and an indifference even to the cares of your family.

Your stomach is

your food distresses you, and you can only take certain kinds, and even of that your system does not get half the nourishment it contains, as the acrimonious fluid of the canker eats it up; then your complexion loses its bloom and becomes sallow or greenish, and your best day is gone. For want of nourishment your system becomes loose and flabby, and the fibres of your body become relaxed. Then follows a train of diseases which the Medical Discovery is peculiarly adapted to

CURE;

Palpitation of the heart, pain in the side, weakness of the spine and small of the back, pain of the hip-joint when you retire, irregularity of the bowels, and also that most excruciating of diseases the

PILES.

How many thousands of poor women are suffering from this disease and pining away a miserable life, and their next door neighbor does not know the cause. I wish to impress on your mind that good old proverb, "an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure." In the

you have both the preventative and the cure, with this great and good quality, that it will never, under any circumstances, do you an injury. Yours truly,

DONALD KENNEDY.

DR. CHURCHILL'S REMEDY.

WINCHESTER'S GENUINE PREPARATION OF THE

HYPOPHOSPHITES

OF LIME AND OF SODA,

(Made from the Formula of Dr. J. F. Churchill,)

FOR THE PREVENTION AND CURE OF CONSUMPTION!

THE SUCCESS OF THIS NEW REMEDY, (discovered by Dr. Churchill, of Paris,) is obtaining the most UNBOUNDED POPULARITY throughout Europe and the United States. It is a purely SCIENTIFIC PREPARATION, and acts with INVARIABLE EFFICACY in all stages of Pulmonary and Nervous Diseases.

This Remedy has not only a curative effect, but will, if used wherever there exists a suspicion of the disease, PREVENT ITS DEVELOPMENT, and thus act, as a preservative with regard to Consumption, just as vaccination does with regard to small pox.

What the Medical Profession Say.

"In no instance have I found the Remedy to fail."—Dr. Churchill.

"I have used your preparation of the Hypophosphites with the most happy effect."—C. Fisher, M. D., Lyseville, Ill.

"I have been astonished in witnessing the good effects of the Hypophosphites. The statements in your pamphlet are not at all exaggerated. My patient was just entering the last stage of tubercular consumption."—S. Moses, M. D., Hoosic Falls, N. Y.

"They exert an important remedial influence over the tubercular disease by improving the nervous strength and invigorating the nutritive functions."—Dr. W. E. Rust, Morristown, N. J.

"I have derived more satisfaction from the use of your Hypophosphites than from all other forms of medication combined."—Dr. Geo. W. Marle, Columbus, O.

"If, on the earliest appearance of the symptoms, the patient takes daily about ten grains of the Hypophosphites, he will speedily find himself in the enjoyment of such health as he, perhaps, had never known in his life before."

"Winchester's Hypophosphites are unexceptional in their preparation."—Am. Druggists' Circular.

"Mr. Winchester is worthy of all confidence and devotes himself enthusiastically to these preparations in all their variety of combination."

"Prepared strictly by Dr. Churchill's method."—D. Meredith Reese, M. D., New York.

"LOWELL, O., July 5, 1859.—I have had several cases given up by attending physicians who are now exempt from all the symptoms of pulmonary disease.—I have used the Remedy in my own case, with decided success. It was regarded as hopeless by physicians and friends, and even by myself, under the 'old treatment.' I am now able to ride, in attending the sick, as many miles, perhaps, in a day, as any other physician in the country."—W. F. Clark, M. D.

"The Hypophosphites are most appropriate Remedies in a large class of affections resulting from loss of nervous force."—Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

Dr. Churchill's Work on Consumption,

IS NOW READY.

The Hypophosphites may be used with incurable success in Chronic Bronchitis, Asthma, Dyspepsia, and in all "Nervous" Disorders.

Make no Delay!

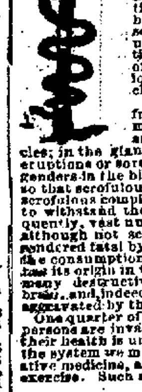

Consumptives, in any stage of the disease, should resort immediately to the use of the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. "Winchester's Genuine Preparation" (in simple syrup), in extra large bottles, is "chemically pure"; is the combination proposed by Dr. Churchill "for general use"; and is prepared according to his original Formula.

Scrofula, or King's Evil,

IS A CONSTITUTIONAL disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this blood becomes vitiated; weak and poor. Being in the circulation, it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease upon any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there any one which it may not destroy. The scrofulous taint is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul corruption, which engenders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Most of the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and, indeed, of all the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause.

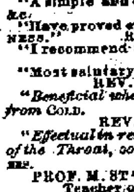

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous; their persons are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined by it. To cleanse it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in

Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla

The most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for this everywhere prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedials that have been discovered for the expurgation of this foul disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from its destructive consequences. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as Eruptive and Skin Diseases, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Blains and Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Syphilitic and Mercurial Diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Debility, and, indeed, all complaints arising from Vitiated or Impure Blood. The popular belief in "impurity of the blood" is founded in truth, for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsaparilla is to purify and regenerate this vital fluid, without which sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

LATEST NEWS!

BY LAST NIGHT'S REPORT

Baltimore Convention.

BALTIMORE, June 21—9 P. M.

The theatre this morning was densely crowded in every part. Three or four thousand persons were present. The large attendance indicated that a deep interest is felt in the proceedings.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Henry Slicer.

Mr Dawson, of Pa, moved to dispense with the reading of the journal.

Agreed to.

At this point of the proceedings a part of the flooring, over the orchestra gave way with a loud crash, letting into the orchestra portions of the delegation from New York and Pennsylvania.

The scene that ensued defies description, and is an indication of the constant stretch upon which the minds of all present are kept. Some rushed towards the platform, others made for the doors or prepared to climb over the boxes. One large sized individual clambered to a window, and dropped out while others prepared to make an exit in the same way. Few knew what the accident was and many evidently thought a terrible hunt had commenced. Their action was an indication of prudence rather than courage.

Mr Ludlow and Church, of New York, stood up amongst the ruins and endeavored to restore order by shouting that no person was hurt, and explaining what the accident was. After several minutes something like order was restored, and a recess of one hour was taken to allow repairs to be made.

Capt. Rynders, of N. Y., hoped at the same time some one might repair the injuries done to the Democratic party!

Colonel Wright, of Massachusetts, on a question of privilege, said there were twice as many persons on the floor as were entitled to seats. He hoped the Sergeant-at-Arms would be instructed to clear the floor.

Mr. Stuart, of Michigan, suggested that all the tickets be given up at the door on entering and returned on going out.

The President stated that some arrangement should be made to prevent the admission of those but delegates on delegate tickets.

When the hall was cleared, it was found that the centre of the platform over the parquet and orchestra had given away, and made a sinking hole in the centre of the floor. No person was hurt.

The Convention took a recess for one hour. During the recess the audience remained in with western band playing several airs. In the meantime the damage to the floor having been repaired the Convention again met at 11 1/2 a m. Mr. Craig, of Mo, offered a series of resolutions which he desired to read.

Mr. Cook, of Ohio, raised a point of order that the first business was the report of the committee on Credentials.

Mr. Craig supposed he had a right to call for the reading for information. The resolutions were an olive branch, and he believed [illegible] relative to the platform should be read and referred.

The President decided that the first business in order was the report of the Committee on Credentials. The resolutions therefore were out of order.

Mr. [illegible], of Mo., took the floor to make a minority report. He stated before doing so that questions had arisen before the committee [illegible] character. It was the first time that a committee on Credentials had been called upon to decide on the admission of delegates after a convention had been duly organized and was in progress of business.

A delegate from Virginia asked if this speech was in order, or the report. If the speech was in order, he was willing to hear it. [illegible] he did not want to hear it. [Cries of "Go on," and "No, no."]

The President said that after the reading of the report, the right of speech would be with the gentleman that presented it.

The report was then read.

Baltimore Matters.

BALTIMORE, June 20—9 P. M.

The Committee on Credentials held a meeting with closed doors, but it is supposed that three reports will be made. Rumors say that the majority report lets in the original delegation from Mississippi; admits the Douglas delegates headed by Soule, by a vote of 11 to 9 in the committee; and the Douglas delegates from Alabama, headed by Gov. Winston, by a vote of 14 to 11; divides Alabama and Arkansas between the original and contestants; admits the contestants from Delaware, and the contesting delegates from Texas. Of the two minority reports, one is supposed to favor the admission of all delegates applying, and where the contestants are admitted dividing the vote between them.

The other report admit all delegates originally accredited to Charleston only.

The Florida delegation has been telegraphed to come on here, in order to hold the adjourned Seceders' Convention there instead of at Richmond. The Seceders claim that the whole number to Baltimore will be 173. This will leave 434 in the Convention.

The following notice appeared pasted in Barnum's Hotel:

"The Com. on Credentials have agreed to admit the original Mississippi and Texas delegates. Alabama, Georgia and Lousiana allow the substitute of Mr. Hallet, of Massachusetts, to remain, and admit the Douglas contestants from Missouri. Nothing is done for Florida.

It is calculated that Douglas will have 173 votes on the first ballot, leaving him to gain 30 votes to be nominated by two-thirds."

The notice is traced to no official source.

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, June 21—9 P. M.

SENATE.—The House bill to establish a mail six times a week overland from Sacramento to Portland, Orego, was passed.

Mr. Fitch from the Printing Committee, reported in favor of printing 20,000 copies of the report on the Harper's Ferry affair, together with the evidence. Agreed to.

Mr. Mallory, from Conference Committee, made a report on the Naval Appropriation bill, in relation to the disagreeing votes of the two Houses, which was agreed to.

House having also agreed to the report, the bills stands passed.

The Senate then went into secret session.

The House concurred in the Senate amendment to the bill punishing Marshals and Deputies who permit the escape of prisoners in their custody. It authorizes a fine not exceeding $2,000, and imprisonment not exceeding two years.

Among other Senate bills passed, was an amendatory act, giving effect to certain treaty stipulations between this Government and foreign Governments, under an extradition treaty.

After spending some time therein the doors were re-opened and the Senate took up the report of the Committee on Conference on the civil appropriation bill and agreed to it.

A message was received from the House announcing the death of Hon. Judge Schwartz.

Mr. Cameron addressed the Senate, offered the customary resolutions of respect.

He was followed by Messrs. Sumner and Seward, when the resolutions were adopted, and out of respect for the deceased the Senate adjourned till to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

HOUSE.—The House passed the bill providing for the erection of a Postoffice in Philadelphia.

Mr. Morse made a report from the Committee of Conference, on the navy bill.

Adopted.

Mr. Crawford, from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported a bill authorizing a loan, and providing for the redemption of the Treasury notes. The same as that sought to be introduced yesterday by Mr. Davis.

Mr. Herrick moved to lay the bill on the table.

The House refused—63 against 101.

Before further action, Mr. Campbell announced the death of John Schwarting, who died in this city last night, paying a tribute to his exemplary qualities.

Messrs. McPherson, Maynard, Grow, Stevens and Florence followed in eloquent and appropriate remarks. The usual resolutions of condolence and respect were adopted and a committee appointed to accompany the remains to the place designated for interment, consisting of Messrs. Covode, Train, Winslow, Hickman, Nixon and Graham.

Fowler, the Defaulter, Heard From.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. June 21—9 P. M.

Advices of June 9th, from Denver City, to which credit is given, state that Fowler, the New York postmaster, whose whereabouts is has been so long unknown, and about whom so much curiosity has been felt, is reported to have been identified at Pike's Peak. The main features in the statement are as follows:

An individual, whose dress and general appearance was that of city bred style, attracted attention. Not only this but his evident anxiety to shun particular notice, he favored all question in regard to his business intentions; he had a tendency to attract more attention than is shown usually to strangers arriving there. He registered his name at the Hotel as Archilles Drance. Under this name he passed unidentified till one day when he was on his way to some quartz claims he had purchased, he came to a small village in the mountains and stepped into the recorder's office, where he was at once recognized by an old resident of New York city, whose name is not quite as familiar, who exclaimed anxiously and desperately—

"Why, good G—d, Fowler where did you come from?"

Drance staggered back with a flushed face and then turned pale as he replied with calmness—

"Sir, you are mistaken; my name is not Fowler."

To which his accostant replied:

"Well, if your name is not Fowler with his whiskers off, your are his twin brother, or the devil."

Drance, much embarrassed, endeavored to evade his disclosure; asked if the Recorder of the district was present, thinking to close the conversation; but his tormentor was not willing to give him up, but approaching him, he said:

"I know what I say; you are Isaac T. Fowler, of New York. You have had your hair cut, your whiskers shaved off, and are disguised by your spectacles; but I should know you anywhere."

At first Drance assumed a firm and indifferent appearance, but he soon gave way to his feelings, and exclaimed:

"For God Almighty's sake don't expose me."

The gay Monsieur Drance was, indeed, the defaulting New York Postmaster, who, by ingenious devices of reported escape to Havana or South America, has thus far outwitted his pursuers and made his escape to the gold mines, and up to this time remained undiscovered.

A private interview was had with Fowler which the correspondent declines giving the result of it, while Fowler was deeply affected at first but gradually resumed his composure and cheerfulness, being by means beyond the reach of government he thought it best to leave the country immediately for Salt Lake and California, mentioning Australia as his probable destination. He fled at once.

Fowler, on the first night of his arrival at Denver City, entered a gambling saloon and won $2,000, and bet the whole amount on one game, but the dealer refused to risk it.—Fowler, without any comment, gathered up his winnings, went to the bar, gracefully took a gin-cocktail, and left the room. This created an inquiry as to who he was, but his fictitious name arrested this. He is reported to have speculated largely in claims. The above is considered here, by persons acquainted with the circumstances, as wholly reliable. Our next advices will, probably, contain something in relation to it.

Later from Pike's Peak.

ST. LOUIS, June 21—9 P. M.

Pike's Peak Express arrived this evening with $8,900 in gold, and Denver City dates of June 14.

A murder was committed on the night of the 12th inst, near Bear Creek, on the Bedford road, about eight miles from this city. The name of the murderer is Max Gredler, a German, recently from Leavenworth; that of his victim Jacob Miller, also a German, recently from Five Mile Creek, near Leavenworth. The murderer and his victim were brought in here yesterday P.M. by some parties camping near them, together with witnesses of the murder. He will be tried today at 10 o'clock.

News from the California gulch mines are very favorable. One man in one day took out 61 ounces.

MONETARY.

THURSDAY, P. M., June 21st, 1860.

Exchange continues firm at 1 1/2 premium, the demand being fully equal to the supply. Capital is plenty, and there is every prospect of an easy money market until the movement of the new crops calls the immense amount of currency accumulated at the Banks into use. Under this condition of things good paper is, of course, freely discounted by the regular banking houses; and even in outside circles 10 ⅌ cent. is the highest rate named for first class names.

The Chicago Press & Tribune of this morning says:

The market for Eastern Exchange is quiet and easier—sales on the street being made at 1 1/4@1 1/2 ⅌ cent. premium. The selling rate at the banks is 1 1/2 ⅌ cent. premium. Currency abundant.

Iron Ore, bbls	41	Eggs, bbls	3

The Asia arrived at New York to-day with Liverpool advices to the 10th via Queenstown. Flour had advanced 6d, and was active; Wheat 1@2d and closed steady; Corn was declining. In New York Wheat was 2@3c higher, sales of 150,000 bushels, including Milwaukee Club at $1,29@1,281, and Chicago Spring at $1,27@1,28; Flour was 10@15c better, common to good Extra Western bringing $5,60@5,80.

This news of course exercised a stimulating influence upon our markets, and prices of wheat before the close had advanced fully 3 1/2 cents, but owing to the firmness of holders transactions were limited. In the afternoon buyers were plenty at $1,11 for No. 1 Spring in store, and a sale of 5,000 bus was made for delivery on board July 1st at $1,15. No. 2 would have sold freely at $1,08 in store, but very little was offered. We heard of no sales of Extra samples after the news, the millers standing aloof from the speculative excitement.—The sales reported exhibit a wide range in prices, the market opening at yesterday's quotations, and closing 3 1/2c higher.

Flour was more active and higher, fair to good country Extra bringing $5@5,25 on board. The sales reported include about 1,200 bbls.

Coarse grains remain quiet. There is some demand for Oats to ship, at 29c delivered. Corn dull at 46c.—Barley nominal. Rye is also dull and lower, buyers refusing to give more than 67c for the best. Highwines firmer, but unchanged. Wool firm at previous quotations.

Freights on flour are as follows:

To Buffalo (nominal)	25c ⅌ bbl.
To New York	60c	do
To Oswego	40c	do
To Ogdensburgh	45c	do
To Boston, (via Ogdensburgh)	50c	do

There are no grain vessels in port. Rates on Wheat are nominally 4 1/2c to Buffalo, and 7c to Oswego.

CHICAGO MARKET, JUNE 20TH.—Receipts of the articles named, at Chicago, yesterday, were as follows:

Flour, bbls	923
Wheat, bus	20,040
Corn, bus	109,774
Oats, bus	988
Rye, bus	70
Barley, bus	90

The Press & Tribune says of the market:

The receipts of Corn to-day were 109,000 bushels, and there were no shipments reported. The market, under this statement, opened rather dull and buyers insisted on a decline; but on receipt of the New York despatches, holders became stiffer, and would make no concessions—the market closing quiet and nominal at 45@45 1/2c for No. 1 in store. Only about 35,000 bushels changed hands, at 53c for good River Yellow f. o. b.; 50@50 1/2c for River Mixed f. o. b.; 49c for Canal Mixed afloat; 45 1/2@45 3/4c for No. 1 in store; 46 1/4@46 1/2c for No. 2, and 43 1/2c for Rejected. Wheat was in active demand for shipment, and an improvement of 1@2c took place, with sales of about 60,000 bus, at $1,04 1/4@1,05 for No. 1 Spring in store; $1,08@1,04 for No. 2 Spring in store; and 90@92c for Rejected—the market closing firm with an active demand at $1,04@1,04 1/4 for No. 2 Spring. Flour remains dull and inactive—sales of good Spring extra being made at $4,72 1/2 and medium superior at $4,50. Oats were dull and declined 1/2@1c—sales amounting to 5,000 bus, at 25c for No. 1 in store, and 30c on track. Rye continues quiet—the demand being confined almost entirely to a limited shipping inquiry. Barley dull, with sales of No. 1 on track at 55@56c. Highwines inactive and nominal at 18@18 1/2c. Butter is exceedingly dull and prices tend downward. A lot of fair new firkin was sold today at 8 1/2c. Whitefish have declined 25c—the closing sales being at $5,50 for No. 1 whitefish, and $2,50 for No. 1 trout.

Freights were quiet. Three propellers were engaged on p. t., but understood to be at a decline. A sail vessel, however, was subsequently taken at yesterday's quotations—4c for corn to Buffalo.

DETROIT MARKET, JUNE 19TH.—(From the Tribune.)

WOOL.—The same features of the market, we have before described, still predominate. Buyers are just as confident that they cannot approach last year's prices without loss, while all the time competition is compelling them to make very little, if any, difference. In this city, where there is less of this competition, prices remain steady at the quotations given a week since, viz:

Canadian, (coarse)	25c
Native to 1/4 blood	28c
Half blood merino	33c
Three-fourths blood	36c
Full blood	40c

FLOUR.—The market remains stagnant. In dray-load lots a little sells at our quotations, but round lots are unsalable. We quote superfine $5. Fancy $5,37 1/2. Extra $5,62 1/2; and Superior $5,75@6,25.

FEED.—The only mention we hear is the offer of $13 ⅌ ton for coarse middlings. Fine nominal at $16 00. Corn meal generally sold at $20,00, though sometimes held at $22,50.

WHEAT.—Dull and lower. On the street, prices yesterday and to-day fell to $1,05@1,10 for prime red wheat, and $1,16 for prime white. Nothing doing from store.

COARSE GRAINS.—Corn wholly nominal at 4[illegible]c.—Oats meet free buyers at 28c, but frequently bring 30c on the street—there being something of a scarcity, with a moderate home demand. Barley dull at 5 0@55c ⅌ bus. Rye nominal at 70c.

TORONTO MARKET, JUNE 19TH.—(From the Globe:)—The markets were scantily supplied yesterday and every description of produce was dull of sale. Wheat to the extent of about 200 bus was sold at an average price of $1,30; the range of price extending from $1,25 to $1,35. Spring wheat was dull and nominal $1,00@1,10. Barley and Rye—none offering. Oats steady at 32@33c. Peas 60@65. Flour was without movement. The favorable news by the Bohemian will probably check the declining tendency. It would be difficult to sell superfine at above $5, and other grades in the usual proportion.

ALBANY GRAIN MARKET, JUNE 18.—(From the Journal.)—Nothing has transpired in Wheat, though there is a fair amount offering. Yesterday afternoon the demand for Corn became more active, and the sales of the day reached 30,000 bus. Western mixed at 61c.—This morning holders advanced their views, which tended to restrict business. We could only learn of 1,600 bus changing hands, at 63c in store, and 62 at the depot. In Barley and Rye nothing has transpired.—Towards the close yesterday there sprung up a demand for Oats, when sales of 10,000 bus State were made at 41c. This morning the market opened steady with further sales of 7,000 bus State at 41c, and 1,600 bus Canada West at 40c.

RAILWAY MATTERS

RIPON AND WOLF RIVER RAILROAD.—It is not too much to say that the completion of this little branch of Railroad, which is really an extension of the Horicon Road, from Ripon to Winneconnie, is of more importance to Milwaukee than any other Railroad project in existence. That it will be accomplished, and that in a very short period, is now a settled fact. The grading is all done, the ties laid, the bridges built, depot buildings erected, and all that remains to be done is to lay the iron. In doing this much, however, without any aid from abroad, the Company have exhausted all their means, but our business men have taken hold of the matter in the right spirit, determined that so trifling a consideration as is needed, shall not retard the consummation of so important an enterprise, and we may say with a reasonable degree of certainty, that before the close of the present season there will be a direct Railroad communication between Menasha and Milwaukee.

The distance from Ripon to Winneconnie is only 14 miles, and to Menasha, we believe, 32 miles, by the route already laid out. As soon as the people of Neenah and Menasha, and the rich section of country between these places and Lake Poygan, have positive assurance that the road will be completed to the latter point, they have both the means and inclination to extend it to Menasha, and in fact have pledged themselves to do so. They understand, as well as we do the mutual advantages to arise from a direct Railroad communication with Milwaukee, and the feeling which has recently been exhibited in this city, as well as on the line of the contemplated route, is such as to indicate pretty decisively that no trivial difficulties will prevent the accomplishment of that object.

We need hardly urge upon our business men the positive necessity of this Railroad to Milwaukee. It will render the Fox and Wolf Rivers, the latter navigable for steamboats 150 miles from Winneconnie, directly tributary to Milwaukee, and pour into the lap of our city the produce of a section of country unsurpassed in fertility by any other portion of the State. It would also bring to our doors the lumber of the Wolf River Pineries at a cost scarcely equal to two-thirds of what our lumber now costs us. Another advantage of this Railroad, and one which in importance to Milwaukee overshadows all others: it will foil the grand scheme for which the Chicago and North-Western Road was designed: namely: to snatch from Milwaukee the trade of the Wolf River and Fox River valleys. With the Ripon and Wolf River Railroad extended to Menasha, the North-Western Railroad would not get enough business beyond Fond du Lac to pay for fuel. If any of our citizens doubt the correctness of these statements we would ask them to examine the maps and statistics, which Mr. C. BIGELOW, President of the Road is now exhibiting in this city.

ALL RAIL FREIGHT ROUTE.—The following are the rates ⅌ 100 lbs, charged by the Detroit & Milwaukee Railway, for carrying freight from New York and Boston to this city, including insurance and cartage:

	1st class.	2d class.	3d class.	4th class.
From New York	145	115	75	55
" Boston	145	115	83	60

They attach the following tabular statement to their list of rates to show the cost of insurance on certain class of goods shipped by the Lakes:

	Value per 100 lbs.	Ins. ⅌ 100 lbs., at 3/4 ⅌ ct., the aver. rate upon Lake Erie, exclusive of November.	Ins. ⅌ 100 lbs., at 1 1/2 ⅌ ct., the aver. rate upon Lake Michigan, exclusive of Nov.
Dry goods, (gen'l assort'd)	$80,00	$0,60	$1,20
Books & Stationery, (common stock)	72.00	54	1.08
Groceries, (general stock, excepting sugars & coffees)	20,00	15	30
Boots & shoes, av. value	60.00	45	90
Druggists and grocers, (city assortment)	44,00	33	66
Hats, caps and furs, (general assortment)	74.00	55	1.11
Hardware, (shelf goods generally)	36.00	27	54

The Rail and Lake rates, with these rates of insurance added, they assert are "largely in excess of the regular rates by the all rail route, to say nothing of the difference in time."

We understand that the Company have sent agents to all the principal cities of this State, Northern Iowa, and Minnesota, to direct the attention of merchants to the advantages of their route.

Auction Sales.

City Auction Room and Land Office.

I AM NOW REMOVED TO THE STORE No. 163 East Water street. It is directly opposite Mitchell's Bank. I think I have now one of the best stands for auction business in our city. All who have any business in my line will please give me a call. CALEB WALL.

The firm of OGDEN & WALL is dissolved. I will at present occupy the same office for real estate purposes, and attend to all business, such as obtaining loans, selling mortgages, and renting houses. Information can be obtained in first class Eastern Companies at current rates. In the course of two weeks I intend to make my annual report of the improvements which are now going on in the various Wards of our city. The impression with some is that no improvements are going on, which is a mistake. Milwaukee city is yet alive and going ahead, and will continue to do so. Never was there such an opportunity for capitalists to invest money, as now offers. One thing I would request: all who have made contracts for buildings will please inform me, so that I can report the same. CALEB WALL, City Land Agent.
